INVESTIGATING IDENTITIES IN ARCHAEOLOGY
CRN# 60808  June 4 – July 9
CFP 132-51  Tuesdays  Fee: $100

We all have objects that are important to us; ones that tell our story, represent our values, or hold special meaning for us. The same holds true for objects that people used in the past. Peopling the Past is about answering the question: “Who were they?” This class will explore some of the many ways we investigate the cultural and social identities of people of the past through the material objects that we find in the archaeological record. Some of the topics covered will include gendered, racial, ethnic, national and class-based identities that can be explored through archaeological materials from historical North America. By uncovering these various identities, we can better understand the people of the past. Sessions will include lectures, PowerPoints, group discussions, and hands-on activities. This course is taught by Jessica Nelson, who graduated with the CAP basic certificate in 2008. She holds a Ph.D. in Anthropology from Brown University where she studied Dutch identity in the 17th century. She specializes in identity studies, historical archaeology, and historic ceramics.

Course options will include field trips and research at local sites in the Stockade and Capital Region. Opportunities for continued involvement in any or all aspects of archaeology will be presented. This course is taught by Louise Basa, an area archaeologist with extensive fieldwork experience and research experience. Ms. Basa is past president of the NYS Archaeological Association.
STEM Scholarship for Kids/Teen

This STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Math) scholarship was established in 2017 by SIM (Society for Information Management) Albany. As part of its efforts to give back to the local community, SIM looks for opportunities to collaborate and work with academic institutions and non-profit organizations that promote STEM through their programs.

The STEM scholarship will be awarded to students interested in attending STEM classes through the SUNY Schenectady Workforce Development and Community Education’s Kid and Teen Academy. The intention of the scholarship is to make it possible for economically disadvantaged students to take STEM classes by funding some or all of the cost of a class. The number of awards and award amount may vary based on the number of applicants and the type of class. Look for the STEM icon to identify STEM offerings.

If you are interested in applying for the STEM scholarship for your child, please visit our website at http://sunysccc.edu/STEMscholarship to apply. Please contact Maria C.
